

Northland District Health Board

Electing 7 Members

Kyle EGGLETON

Independent

My principal place of residence is in the Northland District Health Board area.

Tēnā koutou katoa.

I am a seventh generation Northlander living in Ruakākā. I am passionate about people having good access to health care, about reducing inequities in health and making sure that health care is high quality. My current roles include: General practitioner for a Māori health provider; Senior lecturer at the University of Auckland, based in Northland; Researcher into issues of access, equity, quality primary health care and community driven health initiatives; Distinguished Fellow of the Royal New Zealand College of General Practitioners; Member of numerous local, national and international health governance committees. On a personal note - I am married with three children and to relax I play club hockey, do woodworking and go out into the bush.

My vision, and the focus I bring to the DHB, is to ensure organisational accountability and that all Northlanders can access timely, high quality health care.

Ngā mihi nui.
